

Fox ML Infrastructure – Compliance FAQ

Frequently asked questions about license compliance, commercial use, and production deployment.

1. Licensing Basics

Q1.1: Do I need a commercial license?

A: You need a commercial license if you: - Are a business, organization, or institution - Use FoxML Core in production - Use it for trading, investment, or financial decision-making - Integrate it into proprietary systems - Use it in any revenue-generating activity

You do NOT need a commercial license for: - Non-commercial academic research - Personal study or learning - Open-source contributions (under AGPL-3.0)

See LEGAL/COMMERCIAL_USE.md for detailed guidance.

Q1.2: What's the difference between AGPL-3.0 and Commercial License?

A: - AGPL-3.0: Free for non-commercial use, but requires public disclosure of modifications if deployed over a network - Commercial License: Allows internal commercial use without AGPL disclosure obligations, includes access to private repositories

See DUAL_LICENSE.md for complete dual licensing information.

Q1.3: Can I use it for free?

A: Yes, for non-commercial academic research and personal study under AGPL-3.0. Commercial use requires a paid license.

See LEGAL/SUBSCRIPTIONS.md for pricing.

2. Production Use

Q2.1: What counts as “production use”?

A: Production use includes: - Deploying the software in live environments - Using it for operational business functions - Using it for trading or investment decisions - Using it to generate revenue or support revenue-generating activities - Using it internally within a business or organization

See LEGAL/COMMERCIAL_USE.md Section 1 for details.

Q2.2: Do I need to notify you if I use it in production?

A: Yes. If you use FoxML Core in production, you should complete the production use notification form. This helps us understand usage patterns and provide better support.

See LEGAL/PRODUCTION_USE_NOTIFICATION.md for the notification form.

Q2.3: Can I use it for trading?

A: Yes, with a commercial license. FoxML Core can be used for trading, investment analysis, and financial decision-making with a commercial license.

See LEGAL/ACCEPTABLE_USE_POLICY.md for acceptable use guidelines.

3. Modifications and Forks

Q3.1: Can I modify the code?

A: - With AGPL-3.0: Yes, but you must publicly disclose modifications if deployed over a network - With Commercial License: Yes, for internal commercial use. You cannot redistribute or publish modifications.

See COMMERCIAL_LICENSE.md Section 2 (Grant of License).

Q3.2: Can I fork the repository?

A: - Public forks: Yes, but you must comply with AGPL-3.0 requirements and maintain copyright notices - Internal forks: Yes, with a commercial license. Internal forks are permitted under commercial license terms.

See LEGAL/LICENSE_ENFORCEMENT.md Section 3 for fork requirements.

Q3.3: Can I remove copyright notices?

A: No. Copyright notices must be maintained in all files. Removing copyright notices is a license violation.

See COMMERCIAL_LICENSE.md Section 4 (Restrictions).

4. SaaS and Hosted Services

Q4.1: Can I host this as SaaS?

A: No, not without explicit written permission. SaaS hosting requires a separate commercial agreement and custom licensing terms.

Contact jenn.lewis5789@gmail.com for SaaS licensing inquiries.

Q4.2: What if I want to offer it as a hosted service?

A: You must: - Contact us for custom licensing terms - Obtain explicit written permission - Enter into a separate commercial agreement for hosted services

See LEGAL/COMMERCIAL_USE.md Section 3 for details.

Q4.3: Can I use it in a multi-tenant environment?

A: Multi-tenant hosted environments require explicit written permission and custom licensing terms. Contact us for details.

See COMMERCIAL_LICENSE.md Section 4 (Restrictions).

5. Redistribution and Publishing

Q5.1: Can I redistribute the software?

A: No. You cannot redistribute, sell, or provide FoxML Core to third parties without explicit written permission.

See COMMERCIAL_LICENSE.md Section 4 (Restrictions).

Q5.2: Can I publish my modifications?

A: - With AGPL-3.0: Yes, but you must comply with AGPL disclosure requirements - With Commercial License: No, you cannot publish source code derived from the commercial version

See COMMERCIAL_LICENSE.md Section 4 (Restrictions).

Q5.3: Can I include it in my product?

A: You cannot include FoxML Core as part of a standalone product for redistribution. Internal integration is permitted with a commercial license.

Contact us if you have specific integration questions.

6. Compliance and Audits

Q6.1: Will you audit my usage?

A: Fox ML Infrastructure LLC reserves the right to audit license compliance with 30 days' written notice. Audits are limited to compliance verification.

See LEGAL/CLA.md Section 13 (Audit Rights) for details.

Q6.2: What happens if I'm not compliant?

A: We will contact you to discuss compliance. You will have 30 days to achieve compliance. We prefer to resolve violations through licensing rather than legal action.

See LEGAL/LICENSE_ENFORCEMENT.md Section 6 for enforcement procedures.

Q6.3: Can I self-report non-compliance?

A: Yes. If you discover non-compliance, contact us immediately. Self-reporting may result in reduced penalties, and we will work with you to achieve compliance.

See LEGAL/LICENSE_ENFORCEMENT.md Section 5.2.

7. Academic and Research Use

Q7.1: Can universities use it for free?

A: Yes, for non-commercial academic research under AGPL-3.0. If the university uses it for commercial purposes, a commercial license is required.

See DUAL_LICENSE.md for academic use details.

Q7.2: What about student projects?

A: Student projects for academic purposes are permitted under AGPL-3.0. Commercial use by students (e.g., for startups) requires a commercial license.

See LEGAL/COMMERCIAL_USE.md Section 1.

Q7.3: Can I use it in published research?

A: Yes, you can reference and use FoxML Core in published research. You must maintain copyright notices and comply with license terms.

See LEGAL/CREDITS.md for attribution guidelines.

8. High-Risk Environments

Q8.1: Can I use it in medical systems?

A: No. FoxML Core may not be used in medical diagnosis, treatment, or life-critical medical systems without explicit written authorization.

See COMMERCIAL_LICENSE.md Section 4 (Restrictions) and LEGAL/ACCEPTABLE_USE_POLICY.md Section 2.3.

Q8.2: What about critical infrastructure?

A: FoxML Core may not be used in critical infrastructure systems where failure could cause significant harm without explicit written authorization.

See LEGAL/ACCEPTABLE_USE_POLICY.md Section 2.3 for high-risk environment restrictions.

Q8.3: Can I use it for trading systems?

A: Yes, with a commercial license. However, you are responsible for ensuring compliance with all applicable exchange rules and regulations.

See LEGAL/ACCEPTABLE_USE_POLICY.md Section 2.4 for exchange rule compliance.

9. Pricing and Payment

Q9.1: How much does a commercial license cost?

A: Pricing is based on organization size and aligned with enterprise ML infrastructure standards (Databricks, Palantir, H2O Driverless AI, Scale AI, Recursion Pharma partnerships). Tiers are based on total headcount of the legal entity (not just users of the Software): - Tier 1 – 1-10 employees: $350,000/year - Tier 2 – 11-50 employees: $850,000/year - Tier 3 – 51-250 employees: $2,500,000/year - Tier 4 – 251-1000 employees: $6,000,000-$10,000,000/year (pricing depends on deployment complexity and usage scope) - Tier 5 – 1000+ employees: $15,000,000-$30,000,000+/year (custom enterprise quote)

See LEGAL/SUBSCRIPTIONS.md for complete pricing information.

Q9.2: What's included in the license?

A: Commercial license includes: - Annual license for internal use - Access to private GitHub repositories - Updates and patches (as released) - Email support for licensing questions

Support and consulting are available separately. See LEGAL/SUPPORT_POLICY.md.

Q9.3: Can I get a discount?

A: Contact us to discuss pricing for your specific use case. Enterprise pricing may be available for large organizations or special use cases.
